WILLING TO SUFFER...
COST OF OBEDIENCE

Pursuit of God's will in our every practice is not without personal cost. Jesus' lesson entails the need to count the cost of discipleship.

Are we willing to forego all personal ideas, desires, goals or purposes if they hinder obedience to spiritual instruction?

The price to pay will be very exacting! The faithful follower of Jesus willingly denies self as God's truth is exalted and loved.

We must lay all on the altar as we understand the need to follow every instruction of truth.

This lesson was taught by Jesus as He sounded the requirement to "deny self".

Characters of the New Testament clearly exemplified willingness to forego personal interests and even a willingness to suffer extreme persecution to obediently pursue the Divine Will.

We will likely never be called upon to suffer to that extreme. Yet, how often we buckle under a slight taste of what we do not like, as we consider our thoughts superior to truth or rationalize that it's necessary to do it our way.

Examples abound in God's revelation where men and women "bit the bullet" with reference to their own desires, convenience or preferences and did exactly what had been commanded.

We read the record of those who suffered death to do the Lord's bid-ing.

Yet, how casually and easily God is ignored in view of what we personally desire for ourselves.

We have a great need to understand the will of the Lord. The necessity that follows understanding is to do what the Lord's will requires.

No questions, no reluctance, no rebellion and no cost considered excessive!
