Justification by Faith

Romans 5:1-5

"Being therefore justified by faith, we have peace with God." To justify a person, is to pronounce him free of guilt or blame.

When a man through faith puts sin out of his heart and life, and submits to the will of God, he is forgiven of his sins. No guilt; he is justified.

But the phrase, "justified by faith," does not warrant the conclusion that we are justified by faith only; the Bible use of the term "by faith" is against such a conclusion.

A few examples from Hebrews chapter eleven, illustrate, or show, the meaning attached to that phrase in the Bible. "By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain." Every move Abel made in preparing the altar and the sacrifice is included in the phrase "by faith."

"By faith Noah,... prepared an ark." That was a huge task, requiring many days of hard labor; but all the labor and toil expended in building that ark is included in the phrase "by faith."

On and on you could go with many other examples in Hebrews chapter eleven. These examples show that real faith is taking God at his word and doing what he says.

Peace with God is the result of justification. This grace, or favor, in which the justified person stands, comes through Christ. This favor and God's promises bring joy to the heart.

But we need to understand that those who are justified are those who have obeyed the gospel of Christ in being baptized into Christ for the remission of sins.

Romans chapter six one through six verifies this without question.

The question is have you been baptized for remission of sins and therefore justified by faith? Meditate on this.
