CANCELLATION

The party to honor brother and sister Elam at Lane Street, has been postponed due to the Coronavirus.

Environmentalism Is Bunk

The facts of the matter are that humans are incapable of destroying the environment on any sort of a large scale.

The vast majority of the decline of the environment that we see is due to the normal operations of the laws of thermodynamics which mandate depletion, breakdown, dissolution, and the ultimate demise of the Earth and the Universe.

That is how God set it up! The material, physical realm was not intended to last forever.

It is temporary—by divine design. In the meantime, God will see to it that our environment remains intact until it has served the purpose for which He created it.

Then, He, Himself, will bring not only the Earth, but the entire Universe, to its grand and climactic conclusion by means of cosmic meltdown and dissolution (2 Peter 3:7,10-12).

"Nevertheless we, according to His promise, look for new heavens and a new earth [i.e., Heaven—DM] in which righteousness dwells" (2 Peter 3:13).
