FAITH— COWARD'S

JOHN 12:42-43

When Jesus spoke he did not speak to those who could not hear. Here were Jewish authorities, who in their heart of hearts believed in who Jesus was.

But as you can see in the reading were afraid to confess their faith simply because they were afraid that they would be cast out of the Synagogue.

You might say they were trying to be secret disciples but of course secret disciples is a contradiction in terms, for, "either the secrecy kills the discipleship, or the discipleship kill the secrecy."

You cannot have the best of both worlds and these rulers were trying to do just that.

Sometimes it might be that people fear becoming a Christian because they think by doing or being a confessed Christian they would lose so much.

Sometime men have failed to support some great cause because it interfered with some lesser interest.

When Joan of Arc realized that she stood forsaken and alone, she said: "Yes: I am alone on earth: I have always been alone. My father told by brothers to drown me if I would not stay to mind the sheep while France was bleeding to death; France might perish if only our lambs were safe,"

The French farmer preferred the safety of his sheep to the safety of his country. These Jewish rulers were a little like that.

They knew that Jesus was right; they knew that their fellow-rulers were out to destroy Jesus and all that Jesus was seeking to do for God; but they were not prepared to take the risk of openly declaring Him.

It would have meant an end to their place, their profit, and their prestige. They would have been banished for orthodox religion.

If you are to follow Christ you have to pay the price or as Jesus said you have to count the cost.

You will either stand with the world and men or with God but not both at the same time.

What are you willing to do confess him or keep it to yourself? Will you have the faith to confess Him or will you be a coward?

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

He that falls into sin is a man;
He that boasts of sin is a devil;
He that grieves over sin is a
Christian;
He that forgives sin is God.
God knows the way; God shows
the way;
With God there is always a way.
Without God there is NO WAY!
